Scoring

The Effective Digital Marketing Awards are scored on four criteria, as outlined below:

Queries? Get in touch at: awards@masterclassing.com

Strategy – 20%

Judges will be looking for evidence of a sound business strategy behind the development and launch of the campaign, platform, app or other marketing solution under scrutiny. What were the business goals the brand set out to achieve and how did the solution entered aim to meet them?

Innovation – 20%

For the Innovation element of the judging, the judges will quite simply be looking for evidence of originality and innovation, taking a different approach to solve an old problem.

Execution – 20%

For this part of the judging, the judges will be looking at how well the campaign or other solution was delivered. It's important to flag up any challenges that were encountered, whether in terms of developing the solution or targeting a particular audience segment, for example, and how these were overcome. You should also outline clear goals and relate outcomes to those goals

Results – 40%

Here, the judges are looking for evidence of success. Wherever possible, you should supply real numbers rather than percentages. If the numbers are confidential, please make this clear on the Entry Form. The more evidence of effectiveness you can supply, the better your chances of success.

The judges' decisions are final and no correspondence will be entered into.

Commercial sensitivity.

Any information contained in your Awards entry which is not for publication should be clearly marked 'Not for publication'.

By submitting an entry, you confirm that you agree with the Rules of Entry.
